NAZI COMMAND ANNOUNCES TWO PLANES DOWNED

Polish Claim Attacking Troops Hurlled Back In Warsaw District

FRANCE GAINS IN WOOD

Swiss Report Heavy Losses By Parisian Soldiers In Mine Explosions

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Germany's chief job in Poland will be finished within a few days "and the remainder of the arrogant Polish army taken prisoner", Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering told workers at the German anti-aircraft plant in the Berlin suburb of Tegel today.

"Three iron rings are now closing in on the Poles," he said.

"According to my last reports, the Polish army in the Radom area is beginning to surrender, throwing away its arms by the thousands."

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—With the words "on the Western Front" that were at once familiar and terrifying during the years 1914-1918, the German military high command admitted for the first time today that armed activity is under way on the Franco-German border.

An official communique by the war ministry today made no mention of infantry or artillery fighting, but told of two fighting planes being shot down on German territory in the West.

One of them went down near Karlsruhe, the statement asserted, while the position of the other was not given. It was significant, however, that the German high command finally mentioned German defensive action in the West.

PURSE-SNATCHER ESCAPES AFTER ROBBING WOMAN

Mrs. Frank Susa, 587 North Court Street, was robbed of her purse about 10:30 P. M. Friday when returning to her home from the downtown district.

Mrs. Susa and her sister, Miss Carolyn Malover, of Cleveland, were walking on the west side of the street, north of Hargus Creek bridge, when they noticed a car stop and two men get out. The men first walked northward then started walking toward the two women. When one of the men grabbed her purse she screamed and held it until he finally jerked it from her. The men escaped in the car after having some difficulty getting it started.

Mrs. Susa said the purse contained only a few dollars. The men, she said, were roughly dressed. Mr. Susa is the manager of Luckoff's store.

PIKE COUNTIANS SEEK CASH FOR ELECTION PROBE

WAVERLY, Sept. 9.—With the grand jury probe of alleged Pike county election fraud in recess over the week end, the county commissioners today considered how funds might be raised to pay witness fees and expenses.

Present available funds were near exhaustion and the investigation was far from complete.

An announcement was expected Monday as to whether the four election board members discharged by Secretary of State Earl Griffith when he called for the grand jury probe, will be given an opportunity to testify.

No Air Raids in London, but City Is Ready

LONDON'S preparedness for air raids has been worked out with amazing foresight. Here's a library showing how the building has been protected by aerial bomb splinters.

Royal Welcome Awaits Duke, Wally in London

LONDON, Sept. 9.—On a journey almost as dramatic as that he took on a chill December night nearly three years ago, the Duke of Windsor was on his way home for the first time today, to fight for his country.

With him, by secret routes from the south of France, went the duchess, the American-born Mrs. Wallis Warfield, for whose love Edward VIII gave up the throne of Great Britain.

And, it was made clear as the duke sped to England to fight for his country, both he and the duchess will be made heartily welcome.

(The Windsors, after leaving their villa at Cap D'Antibes, spent the night at Avignon, a message from Paris said.)

They are proceeding to a secret port on the English channel where a British warship will carry them to their homeland.

At first, it was expected, the duke and duchess will go to Fort Belvedere, his favorite home when he was Prince of Wales and King. Later he will don a uniform and take a command in the army.

The staid London Times took the lead in welcoming the Windsors home. An editorial said:

"The announcement that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are returning to England will cause no surprise—still less any kind of contention.

"It always has been tacitly assumed that the war would sweep away whatever difficulties there may have been in the way of the duke's earlier return."

Temperature At 99; Many Cities Suffer

By International News Service While a cool breeze fanned cities near Lake Erie, Central and Southern Ohio today remained in the searing grip of a record September heat wave that caused one death in Columbus, but predictions were that temperatures would tumble throughout the state over the week end.

Death of the week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Saunders, Jr., of Columbus, was attributed to blistering heat that sent the mercury to 100 degrees in the capital. The official reading, however, was 98 for the second consecutive day. Several prostrations also were reported.

At Bellaire, O., heat was blamed for the death in the Nazarene pulpit last night of Mrs. Edith Whiteside, 30, a deaconess, who collapsed while the audience was singing hymns. Mrs. Whiteside, a native of Portland, Ore., had been stationed at Springfield, Mass.

Clevelanders donned their coats again as wind from the north forced temperatures down to 74, a drop of 20 degrees within 24 hours. At the other end of the state, Cincinnati steamed as the mercury climbed to 101, the warmest day in three years. Fair and cooler was the forecast along the Ohio River for the weekend.

Lake breezes brought comfort to most cities in the northern area, and the effects were felt as far south as Akron, where the mercury touched 91 yesterday and then began sliding. Toledo reported a high of 89 yesterday.

Practically every city reported new high marks for September during the past few days. Pasture lands throughout the state were scorched.

BRITISH REPORT GRAF DESTROYED

Big Zeppelin Sabotaged In Friedrichshafen, Rumor Contends

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Graf Zeppelin, world's largest dirigible, was blown up at its moorings at Friedrichshafen, Germany, the London Evening news reported today.

Sabotage was responsible for the blast, the report said.

Small fires were spread around the Graf Zeppelin's moorings, and a terrific explosion followed, said the news.

Dispatches from Switzerland earlier this week told of an explosion at Friedrichshafen, site of the Zeppelin works. The London News story apparently referred to the new Graf Zeppelin, virtually untried in the air. She superseded the old Graf of trans-Atlantic fame, and was a larger sister-ship to the ill-fated Hindenburg.

TEXAN LOANS CHATEAU TO FRENCH FOR HOSPITAL USE

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Clarence Dillon, San Antonio, Texas, banker, today placed his chateau Haut-Brion near Bordeaux at the disposal of the French government as a war hospital.

Dillon, a member of the American war industries board during the last conflict, also handed over 100,000 francs to the government.

NAZI EXTERMINATION PROMISED

News From East Front Discouraging To England; Poland Gravely In Need Of Rain To Combat Germany's Hosts

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler returned secretly to Berlin on Thursday for a 12 hour conference with his trusted advisers, the London Daily Sketch reported today.

Escorted by sixteen German fighting planes, the Fuehrer flew to Berlin from his field headquarters in the Polish Corridor. The fighting planes were to guard him "against possible raiders," the Sketch said.

The chief subject discussed, the Sketch declared, was the "ever-growing restlessness of the German people."

"Although reports of riotous outbreaks have been exaggerated," the Sketch said, "it is nevertheless certain that a calm but more serious opposition movement against Hitler and his satellites is in the making."

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Great Britain today spurned in advance any peace overtures from Rome and Berlin based on the presentation of a "fait accompli" in Poland and settled down to a long and resolute war aimed at extermination of Nazism for all time.

The British attitude was made clear despite the stern realities of the situation. Initial enthusiasm over a Ministry of Information communique yesterday charging discontent among the German troops because of bad food and miserable living conditions on the Siegfried Line was somewhat damped by the London News Chronicle, which dealt out the following "corrective":

"The public would be well advised not to put too optimistic an interpretation on stories of food shortage and discontent in the German army. There is as yet absolutely no indication that morale of the German army is bad."

As more British troops, planes, and flyers were sped to the French front, the British navy redoubled its efforts to drive U-boats from the sea. Germany, it was charged officially, has launched on a campaign of "ruthless submarine warfare."

This campaign, the British Ministry of Information predicted, "will decline rapidly as soon as the full convoy system is introduced and German submarines at present on the high seas run out of supplies."

The entire German press, with obvious sanction, vigorously refuted any suggestion that Britain and France might be willing to talk peace with Chancellor Hitler after the fall of Poland.

The keynote as sounded in the Daily Mail was this: "Let no one doubt what Britain and France intend to do in this war. We intend to fight until Hitlerism is smashed, and all the people of the world—Germans included—are free to work out their own destinies, not alarmed by any fear of invasion."

"The immense momentum of the forces we are gathering will not be stayed by any offer of peace which leaves Hitler in power and Poland in chains."

Operations to Increase Intimating that large-scale operations by the British and French fighting forces is imminent, other newspapers commented similarly, the Daily Telegraph saying:

"In this country and in France every heart is eager for the hour when the action of the two great western powers will relieve the strain which Poland has borne so gallantly."

Yet there is little attempt to dodge the realities of the situation, and the man in the street undoubtedly realizes that a stern and perhaps long struggle is ahead.

News from the Eastern Front was far from encouraging to the democratic cause, even though the German claim of the capture of Warsaw now is regarded as at least premature.

Observers find little to encourage the hope that the German machine in Poland is about to be halted. The much-publicized Hitler luck apparently is holding out, with continued sunshine over the flat

JUDGE TO HEAR ACTION CITING COMMISSIONERS

The suit of Floyd E. Ott, and others, against the county commissioners asking that a writ of mandamus be issued in Common Pleas Court requiring the board to repair a bridge in Washington Township will be presented Monday to Judge Meeker Terwilliger.

The bridge is on what is known as "The Old Road" extending from Route 22. It was damaged by a flash flood on July 4. The commissioners refused to repair the bridge, contending the road has been maintained as a private road.

This campaign, the British Ministry of Information predicted, "will decline rapidly as soon as the full convoy system is introduced and German submarines at present on the high seas run out of supplies."

The entire German press, with obvious sanction, vigorously refuted any suggestion that Britain and France might be willing to talk peace with Chancellor Hitler after the fall of Poland.

The keynote as sounded in the Daily Mail was this: "Let no one doubt what Britain and France intend to do in this war. We intend to fight until Hitlerism is smashed, and all the people of the world—Germans included—are free to work out their own destinies, not alarmed by any fear of invasion."

"The immense momentum of the forces we are gathering will not be stayed by any offer of peace which leaves Hitler in power and Poland in chains."

Operations to Increase Intimating that large-scale operations by the British and French fighting forces is imminent, other newspapers commented similarly, the Daily Telegraph saying:

"In this country and in France every heart is eager for the hour when the action of the two great western powers will relieve the strain which Poland has borne so gallantly."

Yet there is little attempt to dodge the realities of the situation, and the man in the street undoubtedly realizes that a stern and perhaps long struggle is ahead.

News from the Eastern Front was far from encouraging to the democratic cause, even though the German claim of the capture of Warsaw now is regarded as at least premature.

JUDGE TO HEAR ACTION CITING COMMISSIONERS

The suit of Floyd E. Ott and others, against the county commissioners asking that a writ of mandamus be issued in Common Pleas Court requiring the board to repair a bridge in Washington Township will be presented Monday to Judge Meeker Terwilliger.

The bridge is on what is known as "The Old Road" extending from Route 22. It was damaged by a flash flood on July 4. The commissioners refused to repair the bridge, contending the road has been maintained as a private road.

London Warns Any Peace Bid To Be Denied

Polish terrain aiding the rapidity of his campaign.

Rain of Great Value

Rain would be most welcome to Poland, for an inch of rain would be worth an army corps to the Poles in slowing down the German mechanized forces.

News from the Western Front still is being magnified by rumor and speculation, but the French claims that the Germans are in retreat on certain sectors of the Limes Line were plastered all over the city on newspaper bills, and somewhat relieved the country's gloom over Poland's plight.

Statements that Germany was compelled to detach six divisions and rush them to the west wall still were not officially confirmed, but there appears to be little doubt that French pressure on the line is having its desired effect, and may yet cause further important German withdrawals from the eastern theatre of war.

Newspapers in commenting on jubilant German communiques covering the success of the Polish campaign point out that the new German army is fighting its first real war, and has not yet been put to the test of adversity.

Germany's army, it is admitted, is admirably trained and equipped, but Britons declare it does not possess the seasoned reserves or the excellent reserve officers such as the imperial army had in 1914.

London rapidly is settling down to war-time conditions.

Last night's black-out was the most intense the city has experienced, it approaching 100 percent now that the populace is obeying straight black-out instructions.

Night life as a consequence is suffering, with even regular habits finding it difficult to find their regular haunts behind black-painted windows and curtained doorways in darkened streets.

With British ships being torpedoed daily, the Ministry of Information said it is "evident . . . that German submarine commanders have been given orders to sink merchant ships on sight and without warning."

"This is in direct contravention of the rules of submarine warfare, which were unconditionally accepted by Germany for all time."

"It is also quite clear that German submarines were on their stations along ocean trade routes with these orders several days before war broke out."

Officers of the sunken freighter Olive Grove, taken to Cohn, Ireland, by the American liner Washington, said the submarine which torpedoed the Olive Grove was barnacled and moss-covered, indicating it had been at sea a long time. But they said, they had ample warning to leave the ship before she was torpedoed, and the submarine stood by for nine hours, finally firing a rocket to bring the Washington to their aid.

This, said the communique, "confirms the statement of the prime minister (Chamberlain) that Germany is determined on war, and although a just settlement was possible without war, Hitler wouldn't have it."

The navy, it was added, is taking "energetic measures" to combat submarine warfare.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Neutral observers in Moscow link the recent speed-up in Soviet defense preparations with the frequently expressed fear that Germany's approach to the Russian frontier through Poland may carry troops across into Soviet territory, the London News Chronicle stated today.

Detachments of Soviet reservists have been dispatched to Vitebsk on the Soviet-Lithuanian frontier, Exchange Telegraph stated in a Moscow dispatch.

FIREMEN AND VOLUNTEERS KEEP FIRE FROM BARN

Circleville firemen, neighbors and the crew of a straw baling outfit were successful Friday afternoon in keeping a straw fire away from a barn on the farm of Mrs. S. E. Evans, Ringgold Pike.

Worley Storts, Circleville Route 3, estimated his loss on his straw baler at $200. He believed the baler could be reconditioned.

The old pump of the Circleville fire department went out of commission at the fire. Firemen said a pump broke. The pump is 25 years old and is used for trips to fires in rural districts.

Fire Chief Talmen Wise said he did not know how long it would take to have the pump repaired. He believed due to the age of the truck it may be difficult to obtain parts.

The Lewis & Frisinger Company, contractors on the Route 22 project west of Circleville, sent a water tank to aid in keeping the fire under control.

Mrs. Robert Haynes, 385 Walnut Street, was discharged from Berger Hospital Friday. She was in the hospital for treatment.

Coach Roy M. Black of the High School will speak at the Kiwanis Club meeting Monday evening at the Pickaway Country Club. He will discuss the outlook for the 1939 season.

Circleville Elks will meet at 8 P. M. Saturday at the lodge home to visit the home of the late brother, G. M. Newton, in Washington Township.

A meeting of the Knights of Pythias Lodge will be held Monday at 8 P. M., followed by a social evening.

Mrs. Blanche J. Eccard, Ashville, filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas court Saturday against Robert E. Eccard charging neglect of duty. They were married December 26, 1936. Mrs. Eccard asks her former name of Johnston be restored.

REYNOLDS GOES TO JAIL ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

Lee Reynolds, 35, of East Corwin Street, was fined $200 and costs and committed to 90 days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of assault and battery before Mayor W. B. Cady.

The charge was filed by Thomas M. Howell, Elm Avenue, who charged Reynolds struck him when the two were in a West Main Street store.

Matthew Hutchinson, South Scioto Street, waived examination in the mayor's court on a charge of assault and battery filed by Emma King, South Scioto Street, and was bound to the grand jury. He provided bond of $200.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE TO AID COUNTY FARMERS

The branch office of the Ohio State Employment Service, affiliated with the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, was open Saturday at the courthouse and will be open Monday to take care of numerous requests for corn cutters. The office is in the county surveyor's department. It is usually open only one day each week. That is Friday.

C. A. Bennett, manager of the branch office, said about 200 requests for corn cutters have been received by the office and about one third of them filled. Wages for corn cutting, he said, ranged from 10 to 14 cents a shock.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, said he has received about 70 requests for corn cutters in the last three days and referred his requests to the employment office.

CITY'S SCHOOLS START MONDAY AT 8:30 A. M.

New System of Classes To Be Inaugurated For Four Upper Grades

Vacations for about 1,700 Circleville children will end Monday with the opening of the city schools.

All schools open at 8:30 A. M. All will have half day sessions for registration and organization of classes. In the afternoon there will be a series of teachers meetings in the High School building. A full day of school will be held Tuesday.

Registration of high school pupils was made last spring and throughout the summer. An assembly program will be Monday morning in the high school building and pupils will be assigned to their "home" rooms. A schedule of brief classes will be held during the morning to acquaint pupils with their class schedules.

J. Wray Henry, principal, announced that a new system of classes will be followed in the high school this year. There will be six class periods daily instead of the former eight. Class periods will be 60 minutes long instead of 40 minutes. Pupils will have recitation in classes for 40 minutes and during the remaining 20 minutes they will study under the supervision of their teacher in that particular subject.

High School classes starting at 8:30 will continue until 11:30, then recess until 12:45. School will be out at 3:45 P. M.

Mr. Henry explained this new system of classes gives pupils a better opportunity to study and aids the teachers in assisting pupils who have difficulty in keeping up with their classes. Three periods will be held in the morning and three in the afternoon.

Extra curricular activities, Mr. Henry explained, will be voluntary and will be at the end of the day.

north of Warsaw, the Polish embassy said today after radio contact with Warsaw. The embassy announced:

"Germany's claim to have captured Warsaw is absolutely false—an invention."

"The Germans have been pushed back on the north of the city, and at the moment the threat to the capital is less acute than yesterday."

"The German claim that all bridges across the Vistula River have been destroyed is not true. No bridge has been struck by bombs or shells."

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Slicing off a corner of Germany near Saarbrücken, French artillery, infantry and aviation today concentrated its offensive on the northern sector of the 90-mile front in the Moselle-Rhine triangle.

War communique No. 11 revealed: "during the night activity was shown by our advance elements."

French Take Forests

"The great forest of Wardnt, west of Forbach, is mostly in our hands. The forest was found full of destruction of every kind."

"Our aviation continued its activity in liaison with land operations."

The Germans abandoned or destroyed countless trucks, guns and equipment before the advancing French armies, it was learned.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 9.—French troops advancing through wooded pockets in the Sarr region have suffered heavy losses from explosions of land mines left by the retreating Germans, Swiss military informants said today.

CITY'S SCHOOLS START MONDAY AT 8:30 A. M.

New System Of Classes To Be Inaugurated For Four Upper Grades

Vacations for about 1,700 Circleville children will end Monday with the opening of the city schools.

All schools open at 8:30 A. M. All will have half day sessions for registration and organization of classes. In the afternoon there will be a series of teachers meetings in the High School building. A full day of school will be held Tuesday.

Registration of high school pupils was made last spring and throughout the summer. An assembly program will be Monday morning in the high school building and pupils will be assigned to their "home" rooms. A schedule of brief classes will be held during the morning to acquaint pupils with their class schedules.

J. Wray Henry, principal, announced that a new system of classes will be followed in the high school this year. There will be six class periods daily instead of the former eight. Class periods will be 60 minutes long instead of 40 minutes. Pupils will have recitation in classes for 40 minutes and during the remaining 20 minutes they will study under the supervision of their teacher in that particular subject.

High School classes starting at 8:30 will continue until 11:30, then recess until 12:45. School will be out at 3:45 P. M.

Mr. Henry explained this new system of classes gives pupils a better opportunity to study and aids the teachers in assisting pupils who have difficulty in keeping up with their classes. Three periods will be held in the morning and three in the afternoon. Extra curricular activities, Mr. Henry explained, will be voluntary and will be at the end of the day.

"Germany's claim to have captured Warsaw is absolutely false—an invention."

"The Germans have been pushed back on the north of the city, and at the moment the threat to the capital is less acute than yesterday."

"The German claim that all bridges across the Vistula River have been destroyed is not true. No bridge has been struck by bombs or shells."

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Slicing off a corner of Germany near Saarbrücken, French artillery, infantry and aviation today concentrated its offensive on the northern sector of the 90-mile front in the Moselle-Rhine triangle.

War communiqué No. 11 revealed: "during the night activity was shown by our advance elements."

French Take Forests
"The great forest of Wardat, west of Forbach, is mostly in our hands. The forest was found full of destruction of every kind."

"Our aviation continued its activity in liaison with land operations."

The Germans abandoned or destroyed countless trucks, guns and equipment before the advancing French armies, it was learned.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 9.—French troops advancing through wooded pockets in the Sarre region have suffered heavy losses from explosions of land mines left by the retreating Germans, Swiss military informants said today.

OHIO METHODISTS ELECT DELEGATES, MOVE TOWARD CONFERENCE'S END

Assignment
Of Pastors
Set MondayRev. C. F. Bowman And Other
Ministers Of County
Participating

The Ohio Methodist Conference, being conducted in Delaware, was moving toward its climax Saturday following election of six delegates to the general conference in Atlantic City next June. The conference will close Monday evening, according to the schedule but will undoubtedly be continued until Tuesday at which time assignments will be announced.

The Rev. Charles F. Bowman of the Circleville church and all other Methodist ministers of Pickaway County are attending all sessions of the conference. None has been informed yet where he will be assigned for the next year. The Rev. Mr. Bowman came to Circleville last September from Cincinnati succeeding the Rev. Herman A. Sayre.

Four more delegates to the Atlantic City convention were to be announced Saturday.

Three Columbus ministers are among the six chosen Friday. They were Dr. S. W. Rosenberger, president of the former Methodist Protestant conferences in Ohio; Dr. A. G. Schatzman, Columbus district superintendent, and Dr. C. M. Coulter, pastor of North Broadway Church.

The three others are Dr. Arba Martin, Portsmouth; Rev. Donald Timmerman, Newark, and Dr. A. J. Kestle, Chillicothe. Dr. Martin and Rev. Timmerman were chosen on the first ballot.

Laymen, who elected their 10 general conference delegates Friday announced the selection of their 13 other delegates who will go to the jurisdictional conference. They are E. D. Miller, Columbus; J. J. McKim, Cincinnati; L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon; E. A. Kolb, Columbus; Mrs. M. C. Slutes, Cincinnati; J. B. Twigg, Columbus; Mrs. Foss Zartman, Lima; A. Ford Erwin, Jeffersonville; Mrs. H. J. Hoicombe, Greenville; J. E. Tiff, Mt. Sterling; Fern Sinkus, Centerville; Dr. C. R. Pontius, Toledo and Judge Amos I. Conn, Bowling Green.

Laymen completed their business sessions Friday with the election of Judson K. McKim, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Cincinnati, as president of the lay association. Ely D. Miller, Columbus, formerly of the Methodist Protestant group, was chosen vice president, and L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The brotherhood re-elected Dr. Lester S. Ivins of Defiance College as president; Harold Aultman, Xenia; E. D. Miller, Columbus, and B. C. Ballinger, West Mansfield, were elected vice presidents, and L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dean Lynn Harold Hough of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., completed his series of three lectures, one of the features of the conference, this afternoon on the subject, "A Living Faith."

"The world needs a faith in things it loves," he said. "The trouble with the tremendous faith of Italian and German youth in their forms of government," he argued, "is that it is the psychopathic faith of hate for governments and people they do not like."

There is a clip-watch at least one-eighth of an inch smaller in outside measurement than a dime. It is said to be accurate and dependable.

Hezekiah—Who Remembered God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Chronicles 30.

Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, came to the throne when he was 25 years old and reigned for 29 years; and first he bade the priests clean the temple at Jerusalem that they might worship therein.

Then Hezekiah sent letters far and wide to all the people, inviting them to a great meeting in Jerusalem to observe the Passover so that God's wrath might be turned from them.

Some scoffed at the message, but many—a great congregation—came to Jerusalem, and they made sacrifices to the Lord and had a great feast for seven days, offering peace offerings.

Some who came to the Passover did not have time to cleanse themselves according to Jewish law, and for them King Hezekiah prayed God for pardon. (GOLDEN TEXT—Psalm 80:3.)

OHIO METHODISTS ELECT DELEGATES, MOVE TOWARD CONFERENCE'S END

Assignment Of Pastors Set Monday

Rev. C. F. Bowman And Other Ministers Of County Participating

The Ohio Methodist Conference, being conducted in Delaware, was moving toward its climax Saturday following election of six delegates to the general conference in Atlantic City next June. The conference will close Monday evening, according to the schedule but will undoubtedly be continued until Tuesday at which time assignments will be announced.

The Rev. Charles F. Bowman of the Circleville church and all other Methodist ministers of Pickaway County are attending all sessions of the conference. None has been informed yet where he will be assigned for the next year. The Rev. Mr. Bowman came to Circleville last September from Cincinnati succeeding the Rev. Herman A. Sayre.

Four more delegates to the Atlantic City convention were to be announced Saturday.

Three Columbus ministers are among the six chosen Friday. They were Dr. S. W. Rosenberg, president of the former Methodist Protestant conferences in Ohio; Dr. A. G. Schatzman, Columbus district superintendent, and Dr. C. M. Coulter, pastor of North Broadway Church.

The three others are Dr. Arba Martin, Portsmouth; Rev. Donald Timmerman, Newark, and Dr. A. J. Kestle, Chillicothe. Dr. Martin and Rev. Timmerman were chosen on the first ballot.

Laymen, who elected their 10 general conference delegates Friday announced the selection of their 13 other delegates who will go to the jurisdictional conference. They are E. D. Miller, Columbus; J. J. McKim, Cincinnati; L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon; E. A. Kolb, Columbus; Mrs. M. C. Slutes, Cincinnati; J. B. Twigg, Columbus; Mrs. Foss Zartman, Lima; A. Ford Erwin, Jeffersonville; Mrs. H. J. Hoicombe, Greenville; J. E. Tiff, Mt. Sterling; Fern Sinkley, Centerville; Dr. C. R. Pontius, Toledo and Judge Amos I. Conn, Bowling Green.

Laymen completed their business sessions Friday with the election of Judson K. McKim, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., in Cincinnati, as president of the lay association. Ely D. Miller, Columbus, formerly of the Methodist Protestant group, was chosen vice president, and L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The brotherhood re-elected Dr. Lester S. Ivins of Defiance College as president; Harold Aultman, Xenia; E. D. Miller, Columbus, and B. C. Ballinger, West Mansfield, were elected vice presidents, and L. D. Burgoon, Wauseon, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dean Lynn Harold Hough of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., completed his series of three lectures, one of the features of the conference, this afternoon on the subject, "A Living Faith."

"The world needs a faith in things it loves," he said. "The trouble with the tremendous faith of Italian and German youth in their forms of government," he argued, "is that it is the psychopathic faith of hate for governments and people they do not like."

There is a clip-watch at least one-eighth of an inch smaller in outside measurement than a dime. It is said to be accurate and dependable.

Scripture—II Chronicles 30.

Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, came to the throne when he was 25 years old and reigned for 29 years; and first he bade the priests clean the temple at Jerusalem that they might worship therein.

Then Hezekiah sent letters far and wide to all the people, inviting them to a great meeting in Jerusalem to observe the Passover so that God's wrath might be turned from them.

Some scoffed at the message, but many a great congregation came to Jerusalem, and they made sacrifices to the Lord and had a great feast for seven days, offering peace offerings.

Some who came to the Passover did not have time to cleanse themselves according to Jewish law, and for them King Hezekiah prayed God for pardon. (GOLDEN TEXT—Psalm 80:3.)

Hezekiah—Who Remembered God

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 10 is II Chronicles, 30, the Golden Text being Psalm 80:3, "Turn us again, O God; and cause Thy face to shine, and we shall be saved.")

THE LAST king whose life we studied was Uzziah, a king who forgot God in his pride, and so came to grief. Today we learn about Hezekiah, grandson of Uzziah, son of Ahaz. Ahaz, too, was a wicked king.

Hezekiah was only 25 years old when he came to the throne of Judah, and the first thing he did was to order the temple at Jerusalem cleaned thoroughly. All the filth that had accumulated was thrown out and all made clean, and the doors were repaired. He brought in the priests and Levites and said to them: "Sanctify yourselves now and sanctify the house of the Lord God of your fathers. . . . For our fathers have trespassed and done that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have turned away their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and also turned their backs. . . . Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and He hath delivered them to trouble."

So the priests and Levites sanctified themselves and they sanctified the temple, too, in eight days.

Then Hezekiah declared that at a certain time they would hold the Feast of the Passover, and he had letters written to all parts of Judah and Israel, asking the people to come to Jerusalem for the Passover. Many in far-away places scoffed and would not go to the feast, but a great company arrived. And when they had come they "took away the altars that were in Jerusalem (the heathen altars) and all the altars for incense, and cast them into the brook Kidron."

Israelites Make Confession
Then they killed the Passover and kept the feast of unleavened bread for seven days, "offering peace offerings, and making confession to the Lord God of their fathers."
The king and the princes gave them many bullocks and sheep to kill for the feast, and for seven more days they feasted in great gladness. But some of those who came to keep the Passover had not time to properly cleanse and sanctify themselves, according to the Jewish law. So King Hezekiah prayed for these, saying, "The good Lord pardon everyone."

"And the Lord hearkened unto Hezekiah," the story says, "and healed the people."

"And all the congregation of Judah, with the priests and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah, rejoiced."

So much did the good King Hezekiah do for his people at the beginning of his reign. Images were broken and altars to heathen gods were thrown down and broken before the people returned again to their homes.

Prepares for Siege

For their physical good Hezekiah encouraged agriculture, and he also carried through a great engineering feat by cutting a tunnel under Ophel Hill from a spring east of Jerusalem outside the city walls, to the Pool of Siloam, which was at that time within the walls, so that the city had a water supply in case of siege. This was done when the king of Assyria, Sennacherib, came and threatened to fight against Jerusalem.

This same Sennacherib tried to turn the people against Hezekiah by telling them that the Lord God of Israel could not help them and they would be left to perish of hunger and thirst, for Hezekiah had broken the images and the altars, and that he, Sennacherib, would conquer the people of Hezekiah.

But the Lord listened to the prayer of Hezekiah and Isaiah, and sent an angel to "cut off the might men of valor" of the enemy and Sennacherib had to go home ashamed, and was killed by his own sons.

Today, as in those olden times, people forget God and what they owe him in love and worship. For these let us learn part of the twelfth chapter of Ecclesiastes, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."

KINGSTON

The Kingston Garden Club met on Tuesday, September 5 at the home of Miss Marie Snyder, the president, with Mesdames H. E. Yapple, W. A. Placier, W. R. Sheridan and Margaret Lightner, hostesses. The secretary, Mrs. Frank L. Haynes called the roll and read the minutes of the August meeting. The club received $5.95 from Spring Flower Show holding second place. The president announced the State Federation meeting will be held September 12 and 13, Tuesday and Wednesday at Lima. It was voted to earn one dollar by the November meeting. On Tuesday Miss Ora

Rittenour reported for the nominating committee as follows, Miss Marie Snyder, president; Mrs. Ralph Head, vice president; Mrs. Frank L. Haynes, secretary; Miss Katherine L. Brundige, treasurer. The program committee is as follows: Miss Mary McKenzie, Mrs. Alice Riegel, Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach, Mrs. Ralph Head and Miss Snyder. The club voted for Mrs. Marshall Fenton to be the next Regional Director for District No. 23. Mrs. A. U. Brundige and Miss Snyder will be the delegates to attend all county meetings of the Federation. Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach was able to be present after being absent since the February meeting on account of the serious injury to her back and she thanked the members and the club for the flowers, cards and numerous greetings shown her during this time. It was voted to have a penny drill at the meetings, the money to be used as a flower fund. Miss Ruth McKenzie was elected the penny drill secretary. The flower committee is composed of Mrs. Carrie Holderman, Mrs. F. B. Mowery and Miss Ora Rittenour. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. B. Mowery. The hostesses served chicken salad, orange and plain bread and butter sandwiches, coffee and mints.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelson Bower and family will move soon from their farm near Whisler to the Ludwig farm near Circleville. Mr. and Mrs. James Mowery will move from the Ludwig farm to Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Head entertained at a luncheon on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Jerry Ryan of Cleveland and Miss Katherine Hood of Baltimore, Md.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will meet on Wednesday afternoon, September 13, at the Community Room with Mrs. Ida Jones, Mrs. C. F. Jones, Mrs. Clarence Butler, Mrs. H. B. Shannon, Mrs. Albert Kerns, Mrs. Laura Raub and Mrs. F. W. Kreisel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Placier left on Thursday to be the guests of her sister, Mrs. Martha Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Evans were week end visitors in Circleville, attending the Air Races.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Meadows and family moved this week to the Joe Brown house from Mrs. C. L. Patrick's house. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Patrick will occupy the Patrick place, moving from the Whitel flat.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland and daughter Janice were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Davis and family at Dayton, on Sunday.

PROFITEERING

THE most alarming war scare in this country lately, to most Americans, has been the soaring of commodity prices. Both on the Stock Exchange and in the grain and provision markets there have been bull movements that seem to most people unnecessary and disquieting. The food threat reaches more people than the stock rise, and has more immediate effect.

It is well known that there is plenty of food in this country. Lately people were complaining of huge surpluses of many kinds. Very likely Europe may soon require a good deal more in the way of American provisions than it has been taking, but there is certainly no shortage yet existing and none in sight.

This tendency of the present movement is to create an artificially high price level and enrich a comparative few at the expense of the general public. Both the government and the governing bodies of the exchanges should look into this matter and adopt reasonable rules to prevent profiteering.

SOUTH AMERICA AT THE FAIRS

THERE is good news for America's two world's fairs. South Americans are much interested in them and continue coming north to attend them in increasing numbers. According to a steamship executive: "The peak of interest in the fairs as far as South Americans are concerned has only now been reached. Ships north-bound from South America will continue to carry large passenger lists for the next two months."

The vacation season in this country is over. Children are back in school, which means that families are back in their homes, and such travelers are therefore growing scarce at the fairs. War in Europe will keep at home many prospective visitors from across the Atlantic. It will be fine if these places may be partly filled by friends from the sister republics of the Western Hemisphere.

HITLER MAY ASK PEACE

WASHINGTON—Don't be surprised if new peace proposals and appeasement drop on the beleaguered governments of Europe within the near future.

According to the diplomatic grapevine, Hitler's strategy is to take the Polish Corridor, which probably he can do soon, then turn around and announce to the Allies that he has all he wanted and is ready to call off the war dogs.

Hitler then will reiterate the argument that he has no quarrel with England and France and will even forgive their "aggression", after he has taken the Polish Corridor, Danzig, and perhaps a slice of western Poland (to repay for the lives of German soldiers).

This is one reason Hitler has tried to localize his fighting. If he keeps Italy out of the picture, and doesn't retaliate against the French and British, he figures it should be easier to get them to drop the war after he satisfies his Polish ambitions.

The diplomatic grapevine also brings reports that Hitler has another Russian club up his sleeve. For if the Allies reject this impending Hitler olive branch, the alternative may be to face the Red Army of Soviet Russia.

Increasing reports come to U. S. Army and Navy sources that Russian troops are concentrating on the Polish border ready to help their new Nazi ally—if needed. The alternative of sacrificing the combined Russian and German armies would be tough.

DIET AND HEALTH

It's Possible Your "Arthritis" Is Gout

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

GOUT is regarded as an "old-fashioned" disease. Oldsters who shrug their shoulders and rub their joints and refer to their gout are too often treated with derision by doctors nowadays. Their gout is really arthritis, they are told.

Gout is also generally associated with high living and over-indulgence in rich foods and wines.

Far from uncommon, however, in the United States, when careful observations are made, gout is found with increasing frequency. And

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ABSENTEE DIPLOMACY

At 6 A. M., after England declared war, Count Rene de Saint-Quentin, distinguished Ambassador of France to U. S., was asleep in the Embassy. Suddenly it was besieged by an army of newspapermen and photographers, who, after considerable bell-ringing, summoned a sleepy butler, clad in bathrobe and pajamas, to the door.

"Where's the Ambassador?" demanded the newsmen. "We want to get a statement about the war."

"And some pictures," chimed in the photographers.

"But the Ambassador is not up yet," remonstrated the butler. "He is still sleeping."

"Well, England has just declared war on Germany. Don't you think you should tell him the news?"

"Oh no, sir. You see we have orders not to disturb His Excellency until 8 o'clock."

"Great guns, man!" exclaimed one of the weary scribes. "German bombers may be over Paris by that time."

"That would be dreadful, sir," replied the worried butler, "but what can the Ambassador do about it from here?"

where they dig. Their work is a little like putting together a complicated jig saw puzzle, only they have to find the pieces as well as put them together after they are found.

THE BEST IS THE WORST

ALL OF THE good books on bridge tell us that certain leads are desirable and certain ones are undesirable. Most of them are based on combinations of honor cards. Solid combinations, such as ace-kings, king-queens and queen-jacks, usually are rated as offering good lead possibilities, whereas single guarded honors or combinations of non-touching honors, such as ace-queens and king-jacks, are rated as not affording effective leads, because they stand to be more valuable if led toward than if led from. There are times, however, when the bidding reveals facts which can make the usual worst possible lead into the best, and vice versa.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

Lots of bidding generally comes with weak distributions, and this deal was no exception. West called 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-Diamonds, West 2-Hearts, North 2-Spades, South 3-Clubs, North 3-No Trumps, South 4-Diamonds.

When it developed that West could have set the contract by leading his spade A, he said such a lead was inconceivable from a major tenace. Why inconceivable? North had rebid spades, and almost certainly held the king. South had refused to support the rebid suit, and had shown a probable six-five division of his minors. If South had any spade it was probably singleton. Maybe the diamond A should have been led, then the spade A.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

MOVING DOWN the winding dry stream bed was comparatively easy, and Lorena felt that it was safe because shrubbery there screened her from view. But in a very short time Shot's tracks led her to the spot where his merged with the cow tracks. Here, she knew, the stolen animals had left the water course, and here doubtless Shot himself had turned off last night. She turned off to follow them.

Immediately she was climbing again, finding the walking much harder. Her limbs were sore from yesterday's hike, despite the fact that she was in good condition. Muscles in her calves seemed knotted today. But she ignored these minor pains. She moved now in starts and stops. First she would bend low to keep near the buck brush and weed growths, and finally halt to rest briefly behind a rock while she surveyed the country. She had Jerry Dale's field glasses, and they came in good use now. With them she could study the landscape minutely, and the fact that she saw no sign of life was encouraging.

She did not know how long she walked, nor how far, but she was fatigued and breathing rather fast from the exertion when she was halted abruptly by the distant bellowing of cattle. "Baw-w-w-w-w, oom-baw-w-w-w-w-w-w-w-w-w," a faint chorus, but unmistakable; a sound that had become common to her ears. She stooped low and moved by cautious degrees now, cutting directly off the cattle trail at a right angle. Her heart was throbbing fast; she felt that she was about to find something, significant, and she realized that she herself must not be seen.

Nor was she to be surprised when she had alternately hidden and studied the landscape and crept along some more, moving almost half a mile in this manner, she saw a rocky ledge a hundred yards or so above her. From her position it appeared to be a cliff top, a natural rim similar to that which loomed behind the Brazee ranch home. What first attracted her to it was an eagle. The great bird of prey came to her fieldglass vision and flew straight toward the cliff. Near there, too, she saw a huge jackrabbit jumping along rather slowly, as if unafraid.

"If an eagle alights there, and a jackrabbit plays," Lorena told herself, "it means that no human being is near. I could go up there safely, if I'm not seen on the way up."

She took care not to be seen. It was tedious, and she had to walk in a half squat, half crawl most of the time, but she labored, panting to the rim itself, and could barely wait to crawl to its edge and peer down.

"Glor-ree!" she breathed.

There below her, spread out for more than a mile, was a scene of miniature life and activity. Rows of toy brown tents were visible. Smoke came from a fire at one side. A remuda of horses grazed to her left at the base of a cliff not unlike her own, and cattle were grazing on the opposite side of the valley there. Several horsemen were visible and she could count 30 or 40 people on foot.

These things she could see in ant-like proportions with her bare eyes. With the powerful field-glasses she brought them startlingly close.

"S-Shot!" she murmured at tremulously, staring hard.

There by the fire she had seen him. With the glasses it was easy to identify him because of the clothing he wore. She knew every gesture, knew his long-legged stride.

"They've captured him! He's a prisoner! He's—oh-h-h-h!"

She was careful to lie prone while looking, lest someone see her silhouette against the afternoon sky. But she lay there for a full half hour, studying the situation in detail. In that time she determined that no harm had come to Shot Rogers—at least he showed no sign of injury because he moved around easily. But she also came to realize that he had been made a servant in the camp. He went back and forth to the fire. She decided it was a cooking fire, for it was near the tents, and from time to time other men came there. She could not make out what they were doing, but she reasoned that some body would have to prepare food for so many people, since night was approaching again, and this fire was the logical place.

She had taken off her wrist watch again—remembering Shot's warning that it might reflect a tell-tale glint of sun—and now she took it from her bottom and saw that it showed almost five o'clock. She felt weak. Had the discovery of Shot so unnerved her, she asked herself? Probably. But no—not entirely; some of her extreme fatigue now was due to a nervous letdown, but much of it was due to hunger, too.

Before leaving her campsite at noon she had stuffed everything she could carry in her blouse or in her tiny pocket, and she was extremely grateful for that now. She unrolled a handkerchief and found six rather large pieces of hard Mexican candy. They were homemade candies that the servant woman Concha Gonzales had made in Sally Brazee's kitchen. Also there were six or eight short strings of jerked meat, raw but edible, black and hard, but nourishing.

Lorena ate two of the meat strings and one of the candies. She felt better when the meal was done and she knew she would be better able to think a way out of her difficulty, or try to. She was extremely happy for having found Shot, but genuinely alarmed at the position he was in. Not the least of her trouble, she realized, was that she was in a rugged Mexican wilderness 12 or 15 miles from the home ranch.

"I believe I could find my way back," she murmured. It helped to think aloud a little, although she spoke fearfully. "I could follow the cattle trail back to the streams, and I believe I could re-trace our steps from there."

She tried to envision the landmarks. But she and Shot had made that initial trek at night, with Shot leading. Trusting him explicitly, she had looked mostly at his heels to be sure of her own footing. He had done the trail making; he had taken note of the landmarks that might serve as guides. Lorena hated to admit it, but she was afraid she really couldn't back-track homeward as easily as she hoped. She was frightened and confused, and tired, too; and terribly worried about Shot Rogers.

"My glory!" she whispered, in sheer desperation. "I've got to do something!"

She trained the glasses downward again. Unmistakably Shot was a camp cook. Happy to see him alive, she knew, too, that he wouldn't be passive long. She felt that she knew her young escort very well now. He was not afraid of the devil himself, and although he probably was biding his time now, waiting for an opportunity, he would surely make a break for liberty soon.

"He will know I am alone and try to come to me, if nothing else, she told herself. "I must help him! I simply must!"

But there were a hundred or more enemies between them. This must be Escobar's camp. It had a flag on a pole. It had tents. She could even see stacked rifles. She had heard the men at home speak of Escobar as a military leader stealing cows to build up his exchequer and his food supply. He would develop a private army and start a raiding, "revolution" as many another Mexican leader has done, to the embarrassment of the Mexican federal government.

Such an army camp, therefore, would be well guarded by sentries. Lorena could even see these armed guards on duty now. They could shoot down a prisoner and call it pleasure, if he should start to run away.

"It doesn't matter," she whispered desperately. "I must help him. I must help him even if it costs me my own life!"

One-Minute Test

- How is the French winter resort, Cannes, pronounced?
- What famous astronomical observatory was recently struck by a falling plane?
- What island in Sandusky bay, Ohio, was the site of a Union prison for Confederate prisoners during the Civil war?

Words of Wisdom

Great men never make bad use of their superiority; they see it, and feel it, and are not less modest. The more they have, the more they know their own deficiencies. —Rousseau.

Today's Horoscope

The next year will be good to those whose birthdays are on this date. They will gain through strangers and secret information. The child born today will possess a sympathetic and understanding nature, and yet will be shrewd and practical. Success will come of intuitive powers.

Hints on Etiquette

If you receive an invitation containing the names of several hostesses, reply to the one whose name heads the list. She is probably the one at whose home the affair is to take place.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
HITLER MAY ASK PEACE
WASHINGTON—Don't be surprised if new peace proposals and appeasement drop on the beleaguered governments of Europe within the near future.
According to the diplomatic grapevine, Hitler's strategy is to take the Polish Corridor, which probably he can do soon, then turn around and announce to the Allies that he has all he wanted and is ready to call off the war dogs.
Hitler then will reiterate the argument that he has no quarrel with England and France and will even forgive their "aggression", after he has taken the Polish Corridor, Danzig, and perhaps a slice of western Poland (to repay for the lives of German soldiers).
This is one reason Hitler has tried to localize his fighting. If he keeps Italy out of the picture, and doesn't retaliate against the French and British, he figures it should be easier to get them to drop the war after he satisfies his Polish ambitions.
The diplomatic grapevine also brings reports that Hitler has another Russian club up his sleeve. For if the Allies reject this impending Hitler olive branch, the alternative may be to face the Red Army of Soviet Russia.
Increasing reports come to U. S. Army and Navy sources that Russian troops are concentrating on the Polish border ready to help their new Nazi ally—if needed. The alternative of sacrificing the combined Russian and German armies would be tough.

PROFITEERING
THE most alarming war scare in this country lately, to most Americans, has been the soaring of commodity prices. Both on the Stock Exchange and in the grain and provision markets there have been bull movements that seem to most people unnecessary and disquieting. The food threat reaches more people than the stock rise, and has more immediate effect.
It is well known that there is plenty of food in this country. Lately people were complaining of huge surpluses of many kinds. Very likely Europe may soon require a good deal more in the way of American provisions than it has been taking, but there is certainly no shortage yet existing and none in sight.
This tendency of the present movement is to create an artificially high price level and enrich a comparative few at the expense of the general public. Both the government and the governing bodies of the exchanges should look into this matter and adopt reasonable rules to prevent profiteering.

ABSENTEE DIPLOMACY
At 6 A. M., after England declared war, Count Rene de Saint-Quentin, distinguished Ambassador of France to U. S., was asleep in the Embassy. Suddenly it was besieged by an army of newspapermen and photographers, who, after considerable bell-ringing, summoned a sleepy butler, clad in bathrobe and pajamas, to the door.
"Where's the Ambassador?" demanded the newsmen. "We want to get a statement about the war."
"And some pictures," chimed in the photographers.
"But the Ambassador is not up yet," remonstrated the butler. "He is still sleeping."
"Well, England has just declared war on Germany. Don't you think you should tell him the news?"
"Oh no, sir. You see we have orders not to disturb His Excellency until 8 o'clock."
"Great guns, man!" exclaimed one of the weary scribes. "German bombers may be over Paris by that time."
"That would be dreadful, sir," replied the worried butler, "but what can the Ambassador do about it from here?"
where they dig. Their work is a little like putting together a complicated jig saw puzzle, only they have to find the pieces as well as put them together after they are found.

SOUTH AMERICA AT THE FAIRS
THERE is good news for America's two world's fairs. South Americans are much interested in them and continue coming north to attend them in increasing numbers. According to a steamship executive: "The peak of interest in the fairs as far as South Americans are concerned has only now been reached. Ships north-bound from South America will continue to carry large passenger lists for the next two months."
The vacation season in this country is over. Children are back in school, which means that families are back in their homes, and such travelers are therefore growing scarce at the fairs. War in Europe will keep at home many prospective visitors from across the Atlantic. It will be fine if these places may be partly filled by friends from the sister republics of the Western Hemisphere.

GOUT is regarded as an "old-fashioned" disease. Oldsters who shrug their shoulders and rub their joints and refer to their gout are too often treated with disdain by doctors nowadays. Their gout is really arthritis, they are told.
Gout is also generally associated with high living and over-indulgence in rich foods and wines.
Far from uncommon, however, in the United States, when careful observations are made, gout is found with increasing frequency. And

CONTRACT BRIDGE
THE BEST IS THE WORST
ALL OF THE good books on bridge tell us that certain leads are desirable and certain ones are undesirable. Most of them are based on combinations of honor cards. Solid combinations, such as ace-kings, king-queens and queen-jacks, usually are rated as offering good lead possibilities, whereas single guarded honors or combinations of non-touching honors, such as ace-queens and king-jacks, are rated as not affording effective leads, because they stand to be more valuable if led toward than if led from.
There are times, however, when the bidding reveals facts which can make the usual worst possible lead into the best, and vice versa.

Up and about the ville at the usual hour, noting early indications of record fall heat and learned later that the indications were true ones. Found the post deserted except for Ed Sensenbrenner, who for some reason was abroad by auto instead of bike. Waved to Mayor Bill as I passed city hall and hesitated in front of the Joseph building to note progress on that new front that will be one of the finest in the ville when completed.
Found nothing except war conjecture in the morning prints. We are getting practically no news from abroad, only propaganda and conjecture. not only in the special clinics that represent the higher income groups of the population which might be supposed to indulge in high living, but in general hospitals where the nutritional intake has been close to the danger point, gout is found.
Overlook Gout
American physicians have a tendency to overlook gout. Of 100 patients so diagnosed at the Mayo Clinic, only 12 had had the diagnosis suggested before admission.
Gout has a great variety of manifestations. The classical picture of an acute, excruciating pain in the great toe is only one of them. The second place of election after the toe is in the elbow. My neighbor around the corner, a retired physician from Philadelphia, has never had it anywhere but in his shoulder. Vague pains along tendons, in the ankles and the wrist are likely to be gouty.
That is why patients call their gout, "my gout." It is individual to them, and not like any other case. Gouty people like to talk about their symptoms as much as victims of recent operations. I ought to know; I have joined in often enough.
Old Thomas Sydenham, the English Hippocrates, had so much gout that he wrote a treatise on the subject. He said that more wise men than fools have it, which is a comfort, and when he got so crippled he

Helen L. Yates Bride Of Mr. Forrest Brown

Impressive Vows
Exchanged In Church

Social Calendar

Oregon huckleberry and fern banked the chancel and altar of the Methodist Church Friday when Miss Helen Louise Yates walked down the aisle to become the bride of Mr. Forrest Arthur Brown. Cathedral baskets of white gladioli, brightened with fancy leafed calladium, and many tall candelabra filled with burning ivory tapers completed the formal decorations of the altar.

Beginning at 7 P. M. a program of nuptial music was played by Mr. Dwight Weller, violinist, with Mr. Hunter Chambers at the organ. Mr. Joe Burns sang "Ain't Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert and "Because" by Guy d'Ardenot, with violin and organ accompaniment. Mr. Weller's solo numbers were "Walther's Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," Wagner, the 2nd movement from Tschalkowsky's 5th Symphony, "Ave Maria," Schubert, "At Dawning," Cadman and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, with Lohengrin's "Wedding March" played as the hands of the clock moved past 7:30.

The four ushers, Mr. Foreman Slager and Mr. Mace Brown of Columbus, uncle and brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Melvin man, Walnut Township, and Mr. W. A. Duvall of Ashville, led the bride and groom to the altar. The Rev. C. F. Bowman, together with the bridegroom and Mr. Melvin Kiger, his best man, then took his place at the chancel to await the coming of the bride.

Miss Benadine Yates served as her sister's maid of honor while Mrs. Floyd Graves of Chicago, Ill., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Quaint and picturesque were the frocks of the two attendants who wore identical formal dresses of deep rose taffeta with closely shirred bodices and slim double shoulder straps of self material. The wide hoop skirts were caught at either side with sprays of blue and rose flowers lifting the hems to reveal the accordion pleated dust ruffles of medium blue. Their arm bouquets were of yellow rose buds and blue delphinium, and each wore matching bracelets and necklaces of gold with amethysts, the gifts of the bride.

Miss Yates, beautiful in her wedding gown of white slipper satin, came last down the aisle, being given in marriage by her father, Mr. Bryce Briggs. The tightly fitted bodice of her dress finished in a point at the low waistline in the back, a row of tiny satin covered buttons marching down the center. Two shaped panels of exquisite imported Chantilly lace, starting from shallow shoulder yokes in the front, extended the entire length of the dress to the end of the long train. The sleeves, with shirred puffs at the shoulder, fitted tightly from elbow to wrist where they were finished with points over the hands. The front of her waist, softly shirred on either side of a narrow panel, was finished with a V neckline. Her lace edged net veil fell from a tightly fitted cap with a coronet of pearls and rhinestones and extended beyond the train of her dress. Her arm bouquet of white roses was finished with a shower of ribbons and tube roses. The bride's only jewelry was an antique gold locket which she wore on a chain about her neck. This heirloom which had belonged to her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Yates, had been given her as a shower gift.

After the impressive single ring ceremony of the Methodist Church was read by the Rev. Mr. Bowman, the wedding party left the church, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" being played as a recessional.

One hundred and fifty guests from Chicago, Columbus, Chillicothe, Akron, Cambridge, Mt. Sterling, Clarksburg, Ashville and Williamsport were entertained at a reception immediately after the ceremony, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, North Scioto Street.

Mrs. Briggs, in a black frock, with black and white bolero, wearing a shoulder corsage of rose buds, and Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, in a black frock with corsage of white gardenias, together with the members of the wedding party, received the guests. Refreshments were served in the dining room, the buffet table being centered with a large three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of orange blossoms. Five branched antique crystal candelabra lighted the table at each end. Miss Emily D. Yates presided at the silver coffee service. The bride, assisted by the bridegroom, cut the cake and served him the first slice. Mrs. Melvin Kiger, a recent bride, cut and served the cake for the guests.

McCollister, Plum Vows Set Sept. 17

When Miss Margaret McCollister of Chillicothe was honored at a miscellaneous shower Friday at a garden party arranged for her pleasure by Mrs. Martin Cromley of Walnut Township, the date of her marriage to Mr. Charles Plum of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court Street, was revealed.

The marriage will take place at 4:30 P. M., September 17, in the Methodist Church of Circleville and will be an open church wedding. Miss McCollister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCollister of Chillicothe, formerly of Circleville. The Misses Eliza and Gretchen Plum of Ashville, Mrs. Howard Evans of Columbus and Miss Robert Warner of Canal Winchester were assisting hostesses.

The shower gifts were presented Miss McCollister in a unique manner, a special delivery letter which she received during the informal social hour in the garden sending her on a treasure hunt through the rooms of the home, where she found the many packages concealed in a beautiful wishing well arranged in front of the fireplace in the living room. The well was decorated with vines and garden flowers, and a profusion of colorful flowers were used through the other rooms of the home.

A buffet lunch was served on the lawn and games of bridge then entertained the guests.

Those enjoying the affair were Mrs. McCollister, Miss Eva Darling, Miss McCollister, Chillicothe; Miss Louella Gardner, Mt. Gilead; Mrs. L. H. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Smith and Miss Esther Smith, Duval; Mrs. John Eakins, Pickerington; Mrs. Ora Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Evans, Columbus; Miss Martha Mary Brinker, Mrs. W. H. Plum, the Misses Eliza and Gretchen Plum, Ashville; Mrs. J. P. Warner and Miss Roberta Warner, Canal Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Plum, Charles, Ned and Dick Plum, the Misses Dorothy Fohl, Doris Moffitt, Patty and Mary Ruth Owens of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cromley of the home.

Washington Grange Inspection
Seventy-five grangers were present for the annual inspection of Washington grange Friday at Washington Township School, Turney Glick, county deputy, serving as inspecting officer for the subordinate grange and Mrs. Glick, juvenile deputy, acting for the juvenile organization. The first and second degree teams put on the second degree work for inspection. Loring Leist took the part of master during the ceremonies.

The program of subordinate grange opened with a piano solo by Miss Ethyl May followed by a talk, "Echoes from the War Zone," by F. L. Warner. Two poems, "Just Folks" and "Dirty Hands," were recited by Miss Edith Spangler. Mrs. Harry Rife sang "Perfect Day" after which Howard Huston continued the program with a talk on "Farm Organization in England and the Scandinavian Countries". Miss Hulda Leist presented a brief talk, "Facts and Fancies". Mrs. R. C. Palm played one violin solo with Miss Dorothy Glick at the piano.

The grangers then took part in a contest, "The Lightning Artists". Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Mrs. LeRoy May and her committee.

The juvenile grange inspection was held at the same time, David Bolender, master, leading the work. A "Health Program" was presented after the group sang "America". Roll call was answered with brief remarks on "How I Can Be Healthy". Three recitations, "Little Pigs" by Billy Stout, "Just Don't" by Arley Bosworth and "The Dirty Face" by Jackie Stout were included in the program. David Bolender reading a paper, "A Boy's Sermon", Charles McCoy played a harmonica solo after which the group joined the subordinate grangers for the social hour.

The juveniles, in their year's work, qualified as an honor grange.

GARDEN-GRAPH

Certain plants root easier from cuttings than others. In line with today's for speed, the root growth on cuttings can now be hastened by the use of hormones which stimulate root growth to a remarkable degree.

These hormones are now scientifically prepared for easy use by the amateur as well as professional gardener. These hormones may be had in liquid form, in powder and in paste forms. Applied to the end of the cutting, they bring about the growth of sturdy roots in a matter of hours. They also assure higher percentage of rooting.

The accompanying Garden-Graph shows how simple this method of root growing is, even for the amateur. The cuttings are merely placed in a container holding a small quantity of the liquid that contains the hormones, as illustrated.

PETTY ROBBERY CHARGES PLACE YOUTHS IN JAIL

CHILLICOTHE, Sept. 9—Three youths were assessed heavy fines by Mayor Harold H. Brown, Friday for petty thefts.

Herbert Wilson, 18, Camp Ross enrollee, and John Johnson, 19, Chillicothe, drew fines of $100 and costs and workhouse terms of 90 days when they pleaded guilty to petty larceny charges. Robert Reynolds, 19, of Chillicothe was fined $50 and costs and committed to the workhouse in default of payment.

Reynolds was charged with bicycle theft. Johnson was charged with theft of a rear axle housing from a garage. Wilson was charged with theft of two defroster fans and a flashlight from a service station. Wilson originally said he purchased the articles from a Circleville youth. When the Circleville youth faced him he readily admitted the story was false.

Helen L. Yates Bride Of Mr. Forrest Brown

Impressive Vows

Church

Social Calendar

Oregon huckleberry and fern banked the chancel and altar of the Methodist Church Friday when Miss Helen Louise Yates walked down the aisle to become the bride of Mr. Forrest Arthur Brown. Cathedral baskets of white gladioli, brightened with fancy leafed calladium, and many tall candelabra filled with burning ivory tapers completed the formal decorations of the altar.

Beginning at 7 P. M. a program of nuptial music was played by Mr. Dwight Weller, violinist, with Mr. Hunter Chambers at the organ. Mr. Joe Burns sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert and "Because" by Guy d'Hardelot, with violin and organ accompaniment. Mr. Weller's solo numbers were "Walther's Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," Wagner, the 2nd movement from Tschalkowsky's 5th Symphony, "Ave Maria," Schubert, "At Dawning," Cadman and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, with Lohengrin's "Wedding March" played as the hands of the clock moved past 7:30.

The four ushers, Mr. Foreman Slager and Mr. Mace Brown of Columbus, uncle and brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Melvin Man, Walnut Township, and Mr. W. A. Duvall of Ashville, led the bride party to the altar. The Rev. C. F. Bowman, together with the bridegroom and Mrs. Melvin Kiger, his best man, then took his place at the chancel to await the coming of the bride.

Miss Benadine Yates served as her sister's maid of honor while Mrs. Floyd Graves of Chicago, Ill., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Quaint and picturesque were the frocks of the two attendants who wore identical formal of deep rose taffeta with closely shirred bodices and slim double shoulder straps of self material. The wide hoop skirts were caught at either side with sprays of blue and rose flowers lifting the hems to reveal the accordion pleated dust ruffles of medium blue. Their arm bouquets were of yellow rose buds and blue delphinium, and each wore matching bracelets and necklaces of gold with amethysts, the gifts of the bride.

Miss Yates, beautiful in her wedding gown of white slipper satin, came last down the aisle, being given in marriage by her father, Mr. Bryce Briggs. The tightly fitted bodice of her dress finished in a point at the low waistline in the back, a row of tiny satin covered buttons marching down the center. Two shaped panels of exquisite imported Chantilly lace, starting from shallow shoulder yokes in the front, extended the entire length of the dress to the end of the long train. The sleeves, with shirred puffs at the shoulder, fitted tightly from elbow to wrist where they were finished with points over the hands. The front of her waist, softly shirred on either side of a narrow panel, was finished with a V neckline. Her lace edged net veil fell from a tightly fitted cap with a coronet of pearls and rhinestones and extended beyond the train of her dress. Her arm bouquet of white roses was finished with a shower of ribbons and tube roses. The bride's only jewelry was an antique gold locket which she wore on a chain about her neck. This heirloom which had belonged to her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Yates, had been given her as a shower gift.

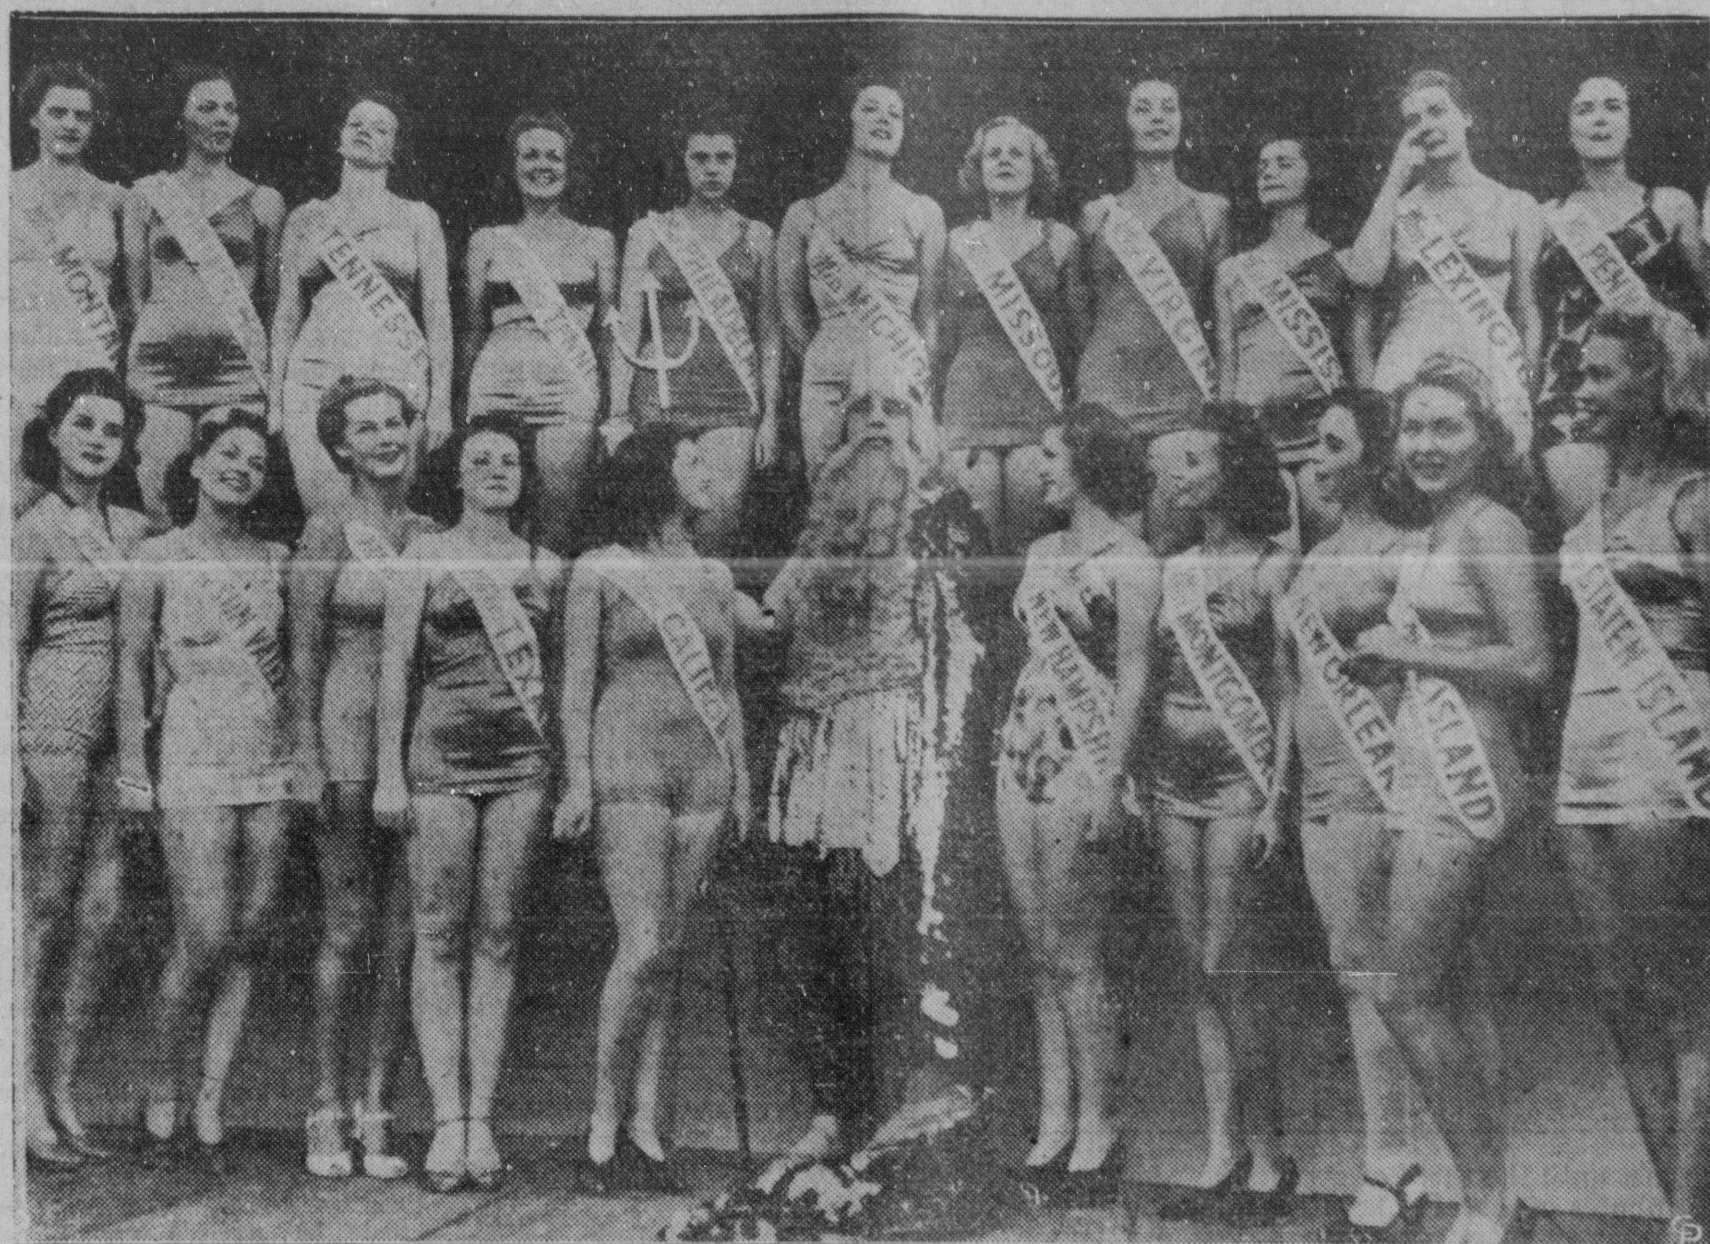

After the impressive single ring ceremony of the Methodist Church was read by the Rev. Mr. Bowman, the wedding party left the church, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" being played as a recessional.

One hundred and fifty guests from Chicago, Columbus, Chillicothe, Akron, Cambridge, Mt. Sterling, Clarksburg, Ashville and Williamsport were entertained at a reception immediately after the ceremony, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, North Scioto Street. Mrs. Briggs, in a black frock, with black and white bolero, wearing a shoulder corsage of rose buds, and Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, in a black frock with corsage of white gardenias, together with the members of the bride party, received the guests.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, the buffet table being centered with a large three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of orange blossoms. Five branched antique crystal candelabra lighted the table at each end. Miss Emily D. Yates presided at the silver coffee service. The bride, assisted by the bridegroom, cut the cake and served him the first slice. Mrs. Melvin Kiger, a recent bride, cut and served the cake for the guests.

McCollister, Plum Vows Set Sept. 17

When Miss Margaret McCollister of Chillicothe was honored at a miscellaneous shower Friday at a garden party arranged for her pleasure by Mrs. Martin Cromley of Walnut Township, the date of her marriage to Mr. Charles Plum of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court Street, was revealed.

The marriage will take place at 4:30 P. M., September 17, in the Methodist Church of Chillicothe and will be an open church wedding. Miss McCollister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCollister of Chillicothe, formerly of Circleville. The Misses Eliza and Gretchen Plum of Ashville, Mrs. Howard Evans of Columbus and Miss Robert Warner of Canal Winchester were assisting hostesses.

The shower gifts were presented Miss McCollister in a unique manner, a special delivery letter which she received during the informal social hour in the garden sending her on a treasure hunt through the rooms of the home, where she found the many packages concealed in a beautiful wishing well arranged in front of the fireplace in the living room. The well was decorated with vines and garden flowers, and a profusion of colorful flowers were used through the other rooms of the home.

A buffet lunch was served on the lawn and games of bridge then entertained the guests.

Those enjoying the affair were Mrs. McCollister, Miss Eva Darling, Miss McCollister, Chillicothe; Miss Louella Gardner, Mt. Gilead; Mrs. L. H. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Smith and Miss Esther Smith, Duval; Mrs. John Eakins, Pickerington; Mrs. Ora Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Evans, Columbus; Miss Martha Mary Brinker, Mrs. W. H. Plum, the Misses Eliza and Gretchen Plum, Ashville; Mrs. J. P. Warner and Miss Roberta Warner, Canal Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Plum, Charles, Ned and Dick Plum, the Misses Dorothy Fohl, Doris Moffitt, Patty and Mary Ruth Owens of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cromley of the home.

Guests at the birthday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Timmons and son of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Miss Audrey Cottrell, Miss Helen Overly, Fred Overly and Robert Rockwell.

Washington Grange Inspection
Seventy-five grangers were present for the annual inspection of Washington grange Friday at Washington Township School, Turchester; Mr. and Mrs. Plum, Charles, Ned and Dick Plum, the Misses Dorothy Fohl, Doris Moffitt, Patty and Mary Ruth Owens of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cromley of the home.

Phi Beta Psi
Phi Beta Psi sorority will meet Monday at 8 P. M. in the home of Mrs. Linden Baughman, 558 East Union Street.

Pleasant View Aid
Pleasant View Aid society will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Elmer Strous, Saltcreek Township, for the September session.

Presby-Weds Meet
Mr. and Mrs. Don Walker were hosts Friday when the Presby-Weds met in the social room of the Presbyterian Church for the September session. Summer flowers centered the table where a delightful covered dish dinner was served at 6:30 P. M.

During the business hour, it was decided to change the time of the social meetings to the second Wednesday of each month. The group has been meeting the second Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Crites will be hosts at the October session. Hunter Chambers gave a very interesting talk on "Bees" during the evening, telling many facts concerning their culture. He is extremely well-informed on the subject as he makes this his hobby.

Coming Marriage Announced

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mary Ballentine of near Kingston to Mr. Thoburn Blaney, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Blaney of Circleville has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ballentine, parents of the bride-elect. The ceremony will be read at the home of the bride Thursday, September 14, at 12 noon.

Miss Ballentine is a graduate of the Centralia High School and has been in charge of the school cafeteria there for several years.

KANSAS CITIANS WIN TITLE WITH DOUBLE VICTORY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—The Kansas City Blues today had the American Association pennant securely in their grasp, clinching the capture with a double victory over St. Paul, while Minneapolis lost their last chance at the flag by dropping a pair to the Milwaukee Brewers.

The Blues took the regulation-length first game from the Saints by a 5 to 2 score, and the seven-inning night-cap, 20 to 2, crossing the platter 14 times in the fourth inning.

Milwaukee killed the last chance of Minneapolis to capture the bunting by taking both ends of a night twin bill, 9 to 0 and 6 to 4.

Toledo broke a five-game losing streak by taking Indianapolis, 8 to 5, with each side committing three miscues. Columbus lost their final home stand of the season to Louisville by an 11 to 3 score.

Galento Underdog As Lou Nova Fight Nears

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Although Tony Galento, the shop-worn but still truculent tub, floored Joe Louis with one smack on the chops, had the heavyweight champion groggy with a half-dozen other punches and came within one punch of winning the title last June he is going to be a 1 to 3 under dog against Lou Nova when they meet at Philadelphia next Friday night. In the more or less official betting odds, according to that, Galento is given virtually no chance of winning in the forthcoming encounter a return engagement with the champion, who, it will be recalled, won by a knockout in their previous meeting.

The betting odds, it will be perceived, are not concerned with what might have been. Galento was knocked out ultimately and battered almost beyond human endurance, and that's the only thing that counts in this case, when he goes against a young gander who has everything, except punch, in his favor.

At that, Nova is a pretty good hitter, as he proved in his bouts with Tommy Farr, Gunnar Barlund and Max Baer. His fungo hitting average against these three was a workmanlike .667, or two knockouts, the sufferers thereof being Barlund and Baer, who were ripped apart, much as Galento was by Louis. Farr went the route, but received a worse battering from Nova than he did from Louis.

Too Much Scar Tissue
If Galento's hide was whole and not crevassed and crocheted into a patchwork of scar tissue around the eyes and old and fancy patterns of cuts and lumps elsewhere about his face he might be given more of a chance.

As it is, he begins to open up at the seams and pour blood all over the premises when the slug is put on him, and they figure Nova will put plenty of slugs on him from time to time before the 15 rounds have elapsed.

As usual, the one thing in Galento's favor is his wallop. That's his only excuse, in fact, for being a fighter. There is always the remote possibility that he will land.

If he should, the 1 to 3 odds on Nova will be knocked silly along with the big Californian.

KANSAS CITIANS WIN TITLE WITH DOUBLE VICTORY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—The Kansas City Blues today had the American Association pennant securely in their grasp, clinching the capture with a double victory over St. Paul, while Minneapolis lost their last chance at the flag by dropping a pair to the Milwaukee Brewers.

The Blues took the regulation-length first game from the Saints by a 5 to 2 score, and the seven-inning night-cap, 20 to 2, crossing the platter 14 times in the fourth inning.

Milwaukee killed the last chance of Minneapolis to capture the bunting by taking both ends of a night twin bill, 9 to 0 and 6 to 4. Toledo broke a five-game losing streak by taking Indianapolis, 8 to 5, with each side committing three miscues. Columbus lost their final home stand of the season to Louisville by an 11 to 3 score.

Galento Underdog As Lou Nova Fight Nears

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Although Tony Galento, the shop-worn but still truculent tub, floored Joe Louis with one smack on the chops, had the heavyweight champion groggy with a half-dozen other punches and came within one punch of winning the title last June he is going to be a 1 to 3 under dog against Lou Nova when they meet at Philadelphia next Friday night. In the more or less official betting odds, according to that, Galento is given virtually no chance of winning in the forthcoming encounter a return engagement with the champion, who, it will be recalled, won by a knockout in their previous meeting.

The betting odds, it will be perceived, are not concerned with what might have been. Galento was knocked out ultimately and battered almost beyond human endurance, and that's the only thing that counts in this case, when he goes against a young gander who has everything, except punch, in his favor.

At that, Nova is a pretty good hitter, as he proved in his bouts with Tommy Farr, Gunnar Barlund and Max Baer. His fungo hitting average against these three was a workable .667, or two knockouts, the sufferers thereof being Barlund and Baer, who were ripped apart, much as Galento was by Louis. Farr went the route, but received a worse battering from Nova than he did from Louis.

Too Much Scar Tissue
If Galento's hide was whole and not crevassed and crocheted into a patchwork of scar tissue around the eyes and old and fancy patterns of cuts and lumps elsewhere about his face he might be given more of a chance.

As it is, he begins to open up at the seams and pour blood all over the premises when the slug is put on him, and they figure Nova will put plenty of slugs on him from time to time before the 15 rounds have elapsed.

As usual, the one thing in Galento's favor is his wallop. That's his only excuse, in fact, for being a fighter. There is always the remote possibility that he will land.

If he should, the 1 to 3 odds on Nova will be knocked silly along with the big Californian.

BUCK GRIDDERS PREPARING FOR MONDAY'S DRILL

COLUMBUS, Sept. 9.—Ohio State University football squad members today were encamped on the campus anxiously awaiting Monday's first practice session. The 69 Scarlet and Gray candidates will be called together for their first session at 9 A. M. Monday. The morning practice will continue for about two hours. Another workout is slated for afternoon. The two-day policy will be in effect for at least the first two weeks.

Coach Francis Schmidt was expected to spend the first few days limbering the boys up and conducting general light exercises.

REDS AND CUBS OPEN SERIES ON CHICAGO'S LOT

Bucky Walters Pitches And Hits Cincinnati To Fine Victory

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The Cincinnati Reds were to open a series against the third-place Cubs today, after capturing the finale of a Pittsburgh series, 5 to 2, to remain four and one-half games ahead of the red-hot St. Louis Cards.

Bucky Walters held the Pirates to five hits to register his 23rd victory, and won his own game with a homer in the eighth that broke a tie. The Reds added two other tallies in the initial half of the ninth, however.

The Pirates finished the game under protest after a bitter argument in the fifth stanza. With Susce on first and Handley on second, Butcher rolled to Frey. Frey tagged Susce, but threw wild past McCormick when the Pittsburgh catcher bumped him, Handley scoring.

Umpire Charles Moran called Handley back to third and ruled that Butcher was out for interfering, thus retiring the side. Walters' homer was his first of the season.

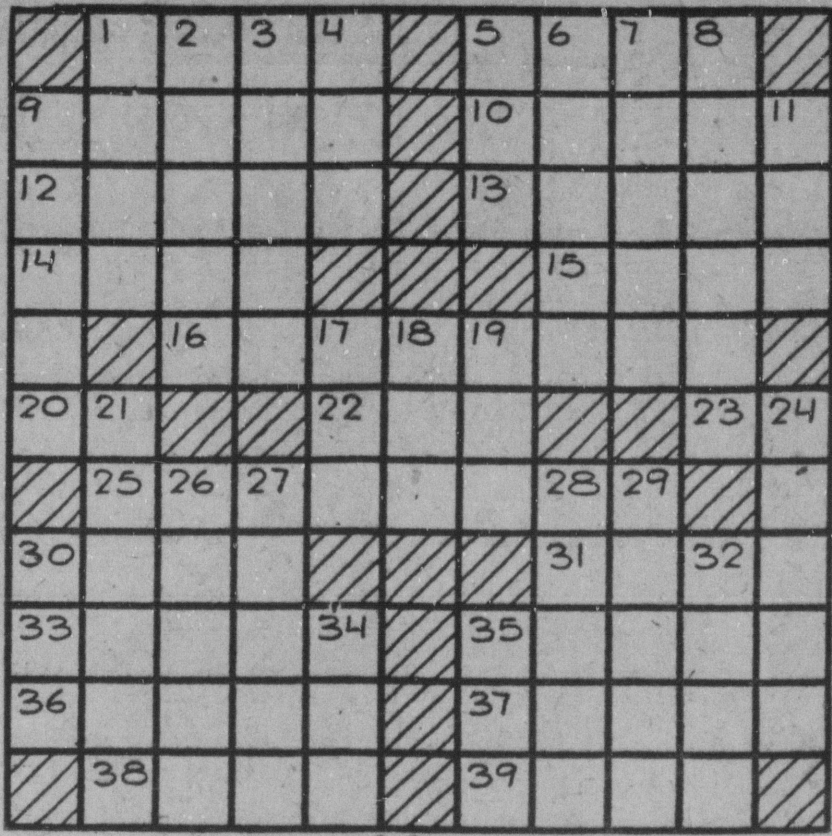

Four stitches were required to close a cut that forced the retirement of Pirate Third Baseman Bill Brubaker after he crashed into the boxes while chasing a foul fly.

Max Butcher, who gave up 11 hits and issued six free tickets to first was charged with the loss.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The situation remains virtually the same on both baseball fronts today. The Reds are still 4 1/2 games up on the Cardinals and the Yanks still hold a 16 1/2 game edge on the Red Sox.

The Yanks thought they were 17 1/2
